Upon the question of silver it must be conceded that President Harrison and Secretary Windom are mistaken, but the mistake is as to the remedy, not as the principle. Unlike President Cleveland President Harrison has not shown any hostility to silver. His mistake is an honest one, and we may feel certain that he will not interpose his veto if Congress makes a move in the direction of free coinage.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BEETS FOR STOCK.

A Chance for Nevada Farmers to Try a Profitable Experiment.

Many of our farmers are puzzled to know what to do with their lands. Wheat is an uncertain crop, hay does not pay, and fruit-growing is a very venturesome business. The fact is that much land is too nearly worn out for grain, and is held at too high a figure to make ordinary farming desirable, so the proper thing to do is to "sell out" and go into something else; but until a customer comes along to purchase, let us consider what can be done. On account of the excessive rains this winter some of our best lands cannot be seeded to grain nor hay, and some that have been seeded will fail to make a good crop. Such land ought not to lie idle, producing only a crop of weeds. As soon as possible it should be plowed up and prepared for a crop of corn or beets.

Too many farmers seem blind to their own interests in the use they make of their land. "A crop of grain, or nothing," is the rule they follow; and too often it is nothing they realize from their richest lands. Instead of a very light and foul crop of hay there might be a splendid crop of corn, or beets, or sweet corn fodder for feeding the cows when the pastures are dried up and the milk begins to fail. No green feed, no milk; no milk, no butter and no butter, no cash from the cows.

Sweet corn fodder is worth more than double the ordinary corn fodder and is one of the most valuable milk producing foods known to dairymen. The seed costs but little, as the very choicest sweet corn can now be bought for five cents per pound, and the labor of raising the crop is almost nothing. This corn fodder should be cut and fed green from day to day through August and September. Then, when this begins to fail, the next crop to have ready for feeding the cows and hogs and all other stock is the mangel wurtzel, or stock beet.

There is no more profitable crop known to the farmer to-day than mangel beets. Twenty-five to forty tons per acre is an ordinary return from good land when well cultivated, and all animals learn to eat them with the greatest relish. They can be fed all winter and keep well until April or May, when gathered and placed under cover.

Now is the time to be planning for these cultivated crops for the coming season—crops which rest and clean the land, and put money in the pocket at the same time. Get good, reliable seed, and have the land well prepared for planting in March or April, for 1890 gives promise of being an unusually good year for such crops, while it may be a poor year for hay and grain in many places.

I shall be happy to answer any inquiries on the subject of beet culture from parties who wish to plant this year; how and when to plant beets; what varieties are best, and on what land; the amount of seed to the acre, and on sprouting the seed before planting, etc. All these are subjects of importance to those who contemplate engaging in this profitable industry. There is money in beets and sweet corn for those who know how to grow and feed them.

A NEW LINE TO FRISCO.—It is reported that President Hill of the Great Northern proposes to run a line from Anaconda, Mont., direct to San Francisco. Surveyors for the Great Northern are reported to have made a discovery which will revolutionize railway travel in the Northwest. The discovery consists of a break in the Rocky Mountains near Morry's Fork, which thus opens the way into a rich and fertile country through which the road will penetrate.

State Treasurer Nolan of Missouri, is short in his accounts $30,000.

The Negro Question.

CARSON, NEV., March 6, 1890. ED. APPEAL.—In your editorial of March 6th is an article commenting on making Oklahoma a negro State. It stated that if the negro should go into that territory in sufficient numbers, their condition might be greatly bettered if the proposed State were given over to such population. It treats very charitably of a race which has been oppressed, while it acknowledges their grievance and right to redress.

The negro wants no such appropriation made; it is not to his advantage, financially, theologically or politically; it would be unjust for the Government to make specifications and laws favoring any particular race, taking as evidence the decision of the Supreme Courts, declaring the amendments unconstitutional, which gave the blacks protection under the Government, which allowed them the same privileges of their fellow beings, the whites, and which declared all men free and equal, irrespective of race, color, clime or previous condition.

All the negro wants is protection in his own home, where he has toiled for years, clearing forests, cultivating the soil and making progress toward civilization, without reward, honor or respect, and the test of his qualities will show to the civilized world nothing inferior to his white brother. Let the Government take said appropriation to enforce the laws already made, giving its citizens protection, and we will have no need of a State for negroes, Irish, Mongolian, or any other denomination, for social or political progression and happiness.

JESS.

THE THEATER TONIGHT.—The new musical comedy, "A Social Session," with its bright fun, catchy music and clever comedians is a purely farcical comedy, ingeniously constructed to afford abundant opportunity for character sketching and the introduction of numerous specialties in which the entire company appears to good advantage. The idea of a heavy plot has not been taken into consideration; it is a melange of songs and dances, well chosen, connected by funny dialogues, and admirably serves the purpose for which it is intended—a good laugh. The people engaged to give life to the play are generally competent to be funny and know how to entertain. The Black Huzzar Band and Star Orchestra are excellent supplementary features.

VICTORY FOR SHEEP MEN.—Messrs. Ford and Merritt of Eureka county drove 14,000 head of sheep into Nye county to graze, and the Assessor pounced on to them. They were afterwards assessed in Eureka county. The Supreme Court has just decided that the Nye county Assessor exceeded his authority. Judgment for the appellants, and order of District Court reversed.

BURSTED DAM.—On Tuesday morning about one o'clock the dam on a reservoir back of Genoa broke and the water went into the town and swept through the Court House. Mr. McKenzie's yard was badly torn up and a good many people were routed out of bed. The damage was about $500.

GUITAR LESSONS.—S. A. Liggins the guitarist, is now prepared to take a class of pupils and instruct them in guitar playing. Mr. Liggins is a thorough master of the instrument, and will guarantee satisfaction. Rates, $5 per month, two lessons per week. For further information apply at this office. f23tf

The Riverside Press says Southern California needs 3,000 milch cows and 10,000 laying hens much more than she wants Eastern tourists, new railroads or a separate State government.
